ABSTRACT

The two lists in this guide contain basic information about more than 140 periodicals that consistently carry materials about reading. The information was provided by the editors of those periodicals in response to a questionnaire. Questions were asked about the audience, materials published, processes that submitted articles go through, and submission guidelines. The first list is presented as a matrix. The second list provides such information as address, rate of publication, and circulation. (MS)

Contributor's Guide to Periodicals in Reading

Scope: The two lists that follow include basic information about more than one hundred and forty periodicals that consistently carry materials about reading. The information was provided by the editors of those periodicals in response to a questionnaire, which is reproduced on the next page so that you can read the information in the lists in the context within which the editors provided it.

Using this guide: Every periodical included in this guide appears alphabetically on each of the two lists. The first list is presented as a matrix primarily because of the compactness of that format. The second list offers information not readily adaptable to that format. To use this guide most efficiently, please first read the sample questionnaire on page 2. Editors' responses to starred items on the questionnaire are reported in the matrix; responses to unstarred items in the second list. Quotation marks in the second list indicate comments of individual editors.

This guide in no way reflects advocacy or endorsement by the International Reading Association of any periodical except, of course, for the fact that the four journals of the Association itself are included herein.

International Reading Association

BECAUSE...

WE ARE the International Reading Association, a service organization, dedicated to the improvement of reading instruction and the promotion of the lifetime reading habit.

WE ARE OVER 70,000 individuals and institutions united in the common belief that reading, the foundation of knowledge, makes a world of difference in everyone's life.

WE ARE REPRESENTED in 80 nations.

WE ARE a non-governmental organization and are recognized as a non-profit, member supported association.

WE OFFER a choice of memberships—a Basic Membership with or without the Book Club option—and a Journal Membership with one, two, three, or four journals, again, with or without the Book Club option.

WE OFFER special membership rates for spouses, students, and retirees. For more information on these special membership categories, please write to the Information Services Coordinator at IRA Headquarters.

WE ARE a unified voice in the promotion of reading. Through each member and each council, IRA works toward the promotion of reading and the reading habit among people worldwide. As an IRA member, you become an integral part of this international voice for reading.

READING IS ONE OF THE GREATEST GIFTS WE CAN GIVE!
WE CAN HELP YOU HELP OTHERS UNLOCK THE WORLD!
